Jewish Art Calendar is bright and early!

Dear Friends,

We are glad to announce that we have made some improvements to the beloved Jewish Art Calendar, and it is going to look different this year.

More color! We have added more color to the pages, and brighter printing. We hope that you like it.

Sooner! This year the calendar is being distributed earlier than it ever has been. It is being mailed in the next several days. Look out for yours in the mail over the course of coming the two weeks.

Better! We have also made improvements to the methods used to calculate the times so that it is even more precise.

Of course, what isn't changing is the large size and usability of the calendar, or any of the other popular features.

Please feel free to express your appreciation for the calendar by making a donation at www.SkokieChabad.org/donate. Thank you!

Sincerely,
Rabbi Yochanan Posner

Rosh Hashanah Message

Dear friends,

I am writing this as we commemorate fifteen years since the terrible events of 9/11, when 2,977 innocent men, women, and children lost their lives at the hands of brutal terrorists. That day was a wakeup call, telling us that the world was not as safe as we had thought it to be. Terror was not limited to the Middle East, and no person on the planet is truly secure.

I remember the Rosh Hashanah services just a week later. I was officiating at the only synagogue in Namibia, Africa. People who had not been to synagogue in years, came that year. They were there to connect, to give thanks, and to be inspired. The tragedy had touched them deeply, and they felt a need to become better, more spiritual, inspired, giving, community-minded people.

We need not wait for tragedy to strike. There are so many ways in which we can improve ourselves and the world around us. Here are some ideas:

- Say hello. It sounds simple, but it can make all the difference. Pay attention to the folks you pass in the hallway, in the line at the coffee shop, and in the mall.
- Say thank you. This is a biggie. Whether it is working hard at the office, cooking and cleaning, or even being a constant listening ear, our family members are our biggest assets. Let's make sure to treat them as such. Recognize the kindness they give us and verbalize our appreciation.
- On the subject of appreciation, let us not forget that our very lives are a gift from God. Let's express our thanks to him. No need to get fancy. Just picture yourself standing before the Maker of Heaven and Earth, and say how much you appreciate the gift of life.
- Now do something. Words and feelings are nice, but action is what really counts. We can each contribute in different ways. Some of us can volunteer our time, others can give in other ways. Pick a charitable cause close to your heart, and make it your own.

It is my hope and prayer that this coming year (5777 since the creation of the world) bring with it peace, contentment, harmony, spiritual enlightenment, and prosperity for all the inhabitants of earth.

Wishing you a happy New Year,
Rabbi Yochanan Posner
Lubavitch Chabad of Skokie

PS: Rosh Hashanah begins on the evening of Oct. 2 and ends on Oct. 4. Any and all Jewish people who want to hear the shofar blowing or participate in the festivities of the holiday are welcome to attend our synagogue. We are also glad to mail you a Jewish calendar for this new year, or a pamphlet with more information about observing the High Holidays. Please contact us at 847-677-1770.

Edison Park to Honor Police, Fire, and Military Personnel

On October 1st, the Edison Park Chamber of Commerce in partnership with the Edison Park Community Council, 41st Ward Alderman Anthony Napolitano, and 20th District State Representative Michael McAuliffe will host Edison Park Salutes Those in Uniform.

This one day festival will be located at Oliphant and Olmsted Avenues in the heart of Edison Park. The activities begin at 11am and continue until 10pm. Families will enjoy a day filled with live music, food trucks, Miller Beer products, inflatables, kid's activities, and raffles.

Police, Fire, and Military personnel will receive a special appreciation wristband and free raffle ticket. Many of the local elected officials including 10th District State Senator John Mulroe and 9th District Cook County Commissioner Peter Silvestri are also supporting this day to honor all those in uniform. "I am proud to co-sponsor this inaugural event," Napolitano says. "The 41st Ward is home to many of Chicago's first responders and military families. The weekend events allow for our community to show our appreciation for the work they do as well as raise money for the charities they represent."

All proceeds from Edison Park Salutes Those in Uniform will benefit three local charities: Ignite the Spirit, Brotherhood for the Fallen, and Salute Inc. Ignite the Spirit has donated over a million dollars to ease the hardships of Chicago firefighters and their families; Brotherhood for the Fallen's mission is to honorably attend the services of Fallen Officers across the United States & Canada who have made the ultimate sacrifice, giving his/her life during the performance of their duties, by providing safety for citizens; and Salute Inc.'s mission is to passionately pursue meeting the financial, physical and emotional needs of military service members, veterans and their families. These three charities will benefit greatly from this day to show appreciation to our police, fire, and military personnel.

For those who are unable to attend this day to salute our men and women in uniform, a Go Fund Me Page has been established for donations to the charities. Supporters can donate at <https://www.gofundme.com/2436jmbw>.

In addition to Edison Park Salutes Those in Uniform, Alderman Napolitano and McDonald's will be hosting a mass led by Fr. Dan Brandt of the Chicago Police Chaplains at Saint Thecla Church on Sunday, October 2nd at 10am. Immediately after mass, there will be a pancake breakfast for all police, fire, and military personnel and their families. Saint Thecla is located at 6725 W. Devon.

West Ridge Thank Our Police Officers

How do we thank the dedicated people who keep us safe?

We have a suggestion... GET BEHIND THE VEST.

A bulletproof vest in an officer's only reliable defense against traumatic injury or death. Chicago police officers are provided with one bulletproof vest when they join the force, but they are responsible for purchasing replacement vests. Each vest can be more than $500 and are good for about 5 years.

To help our officers protect themselves while they are protecting us, visit our website at <http://www.getbehindthevest.org> to help defray the cost of an officer's vest. Any amount will be greatly appreciated.

Emergency Preparedness: Are You Ready? Monday, September 19, 2016, 6:30-7:30 p.m.

Emergencies happen unexpectedly. Are you prepared to respond? September is National Preparedness Month and the Chicago Department of Public Health is hosting a workshop to help citizens prepare. Participants will learn about the types of emergencies that could happen in this area, and the best ways to prepare for and respond to those emergencies. Chicago Department of Health staff members will hand out emergency preparedness packets and help attendees complete personal preparedness plans. The workshop will be led by Darnell Thomas, Ed.D, projects administrator and Julia Grimmett, MS, Ed., training officer of Emergency Preparedness Initiatives. Registration is recommended. Please call (312) 744-8313 or send an email to edgebrook@chipublic.org to register. Edgebrook Branch Library, 5331 W. Devon Ave., Chicago

Volunteers Needed To Help Maot Chitim Deliver Food To Needy For Jewish New Year

Between 400 and 500 volunteers will be needed Sunday, September 25 to deliver more than 300,000 pounds of food to Jewish needy as Maot Chitim, the Jewish charity that fights hunger, prepares to feed 15,000 people for the upcoming High Holidays of Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year.

Deliveries will start at 9:00 a.m. and conclude at 11:00 a.m.

"Volunteers also will come to a warehouse at 8260 N. Austin in Morton Grove a week earlier, Sunday, September 18 and work in shifts from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. packing boxes of food for the needy in our community," says Joellyn Oliff, Executive Director of Maot Chitim. "What we call 'needy' can include Holocaust survivors and other senior citizens as well as college students and many in-between."

These boxes of food will be delivered a week later, Sunday, Sept. 25, to more than 5,000 individual homes as well as to college Hillels, the Ark, Operation Ezra, food pantries, shelters and other funds. Each box will contain kosher chicken, challah, apples, carrots, wine, honey, cake, tea and candles - all the necessities for preparing a holiday meal.

"We believe we are delivering Jewish continuity," Oliff continues. "Because of us, many indigent community members will be able to have a traditional kosher holiday meal."

The Hebrew words "maot chitim" come from the Torah and refers to the centuries old custom of leaving the corners of one's field unharvested - so the poor can gather wheat to provides themselves with sustenance.

Maot Chitim in Chicago is more than 100 years old. Originally, Rabbis set up tables in front of their synagogues and gave money to those in need so they could provide themselves with meals for Passover.

In 1997, Rosh Hashanah, was added.

"Today, we buy 45,000 pounds of kosher chicken, 12,000 dozen eggs and more than 10,000 challahs as well as everything else with money that we get from nearly 5,000 private donors," Oliff says. "Some donations are as small as $5 and others give more than $1,000. We also receive a generous grant from the Bank of Highland Park for the Rosh Hashana holiday.

The volunteers come from all over the community, Oliff points out.

"Teens come from youth groups, and others come from clubs, and private agencies. Of course, we have volunteers from synagogues all over the Chicagoland area," she says.

The boxes will be picked up and delivered by volunteers and families with children who will be teaching their kids the value of giving "tzedakah" or charity.

"We are delighted to say that we have second and third generations of families who continue to deliver packages to the Jewish people who need help. This is an opportunity for people to actually see the persons they are helping," Oliff adds.

Oliff concludes by saying, "We help bring community members together from all aspects of Jewish life. No matter what your priorities, the goal is to help those in need celebrate the holiday. Our one purpose is to help others."

Maot Chitim is located at 7366 N. Lincoln Ave., in Lincolnwood.

Family Fun Fest Brings “Unplugged” Fun to Centennial Park

Families are invited to celebrate fall at the fourth annual Family Fun Fest on Sunday, September 18 from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. in Centennial Park, 6801 N. McCormick Blvd. Sponsored by Lincolnwood Parks and Recreation, this free outdoor festival features:

- Bounce house
- Kayaking

- DJ led games
- Bike safety clinic

This annual event spotlights the many features of Lincolnwood Centennial Park, which offers something for every member of the family, including sculptures and walking and biking paths, an outdoor amphitheater, and ample green space to fly kites, play Frisbee or kick a ball around.

Some changes to this year’s event include the addition of a bounce house and DJ to add to the fun and get kids moving, as well as the ability to bring dogs. “This year, since Centennial Park is the only Lincolnwood park that allows dogs, we’re inviting people to bring out their four legged family members (on leashes) to enjoy the fun” says Aryn Fletcher, Youth Programs Coordinator. “We’re also happy to welcome Kayak Chicago back to give everyone the opportunity to try kayaking.”

Kids with bikes will also be able to have their bike inspected by a Lincolnwood police officer who will be on hand to share bike safety tips and show kids how to lock their bike up properly to prevent theft.

Limited parking will be available at the parking lot just north of the McCormick/Northeast Parkway intersection. Overflow parking is available at Lincolnwood Town Center or the old Dominick’s parking lot at McCormick and Pratt.

Funny Girl Launches The 2016-17 Play Series

By Wayne Mell, Artistic Director

If a robin is the first sign of spring, then what’s the first sign of fall? It’s the big Broadway musical at Skokie Theatre, of course. In past years, audiences have enjoyed our productions of Sweet Charity and Next to Normal. This year, we’re pulling out all the stops with a big, bold production of Funny Girl.

Funny Girl is the smash Broadway musical about Fanny Brice, an awkward Jewish girl who “isn’t pretty,” and how she defied the odds to become the greatest star of her generation. With humor, talent, and chutzpah, her rise to super-stardom, and her turbulent romance with gambler Nick Arnstein, are explored through Bob Merrill and Jule Styne’s unforgettable score, which includes “I’m the Greatest Star,” “Don’t Rain On My Parade,” “People,” “The Music That Makes Me Dance,” and “You Are Woman, I Am Man.”

Funny Girl is all about the girl. She has to sing, she has to act, she has to dance, and more importantly she has to be funny. Our production stars an absolute gem named Sally Staats. You may have gotten a peek at her last June at our Tony Awards Night Gala, where she entertained our guests by singing “People.” Her performance that night was just the tip of the iceberg. This charming, perky star is new to Chicago. She is originally from Milwaukee, where she performed at the Skylight Music Theatre. She made an appearance last summer at the New York Musical Theater Festival, and then moved to Chicago where she landed the role of Margot in The Diary of Ann Frank at the Metropolis Performing Arts Center.

Sally is joined by 13 other talented singers and dancers including Mario Mazzetti as Eddie, a local Chicago favorite who has appeared with Redmoon Theatre, the Citadel Theatre, and Artists Giving Back; local film and TV actor Rob Ibanez who plays Nick Arnstein; and Bob Sanders as Flo Ziegfeld, a New York actor who appeared off-Broadway with Jane Krakowski in A Little Night Music. Funny Girl is directed by Joseph Jefferson award winner Stephen M. Genovese, who previously directed our productions of Tuesdays With Morrie, Same Time Next Year, and Beau Jest.

Funny Girl launches the MadKap Productions 2016-17 play series. Other shows in the season include the hilarious farce Beyond Therapy in November, the classic romantic comedy The Seven Year Itch next February, and the Tony Award winning drama Equus in April.

Funny Girl run Sept 9 – Oct 2, 2016. Fridays and Saturdays at 7:30 pm, Sundays at 2:00 pm, with a matinee on Wednesday, September 14 at 1:30 pm. Tickets are $39 general admission, $34 for seniors, and $29 for students. Or, you can subscribe to the entire season and see all four shows for under $99. Call our box office at 847-677-7761 or visit SkokieTheatre.org.

Bonus Presentation: The story behind Funny Girl is as equally entertaining as the show itself. An unknown performer named Barbra Streisand was given the role of Fanny Brice after many big stars passed it up, and she turned it into an unparalleled lifetime career. Theatre historian Charles Troy has compiled a 90 presentation in honor of our production that shares all the stories behind the scenes that brought this beloved musical to life. The Creation of Funny Girl will be presented on Wed, Sept 7 at 1:30 pm and again on Tues, Sept 13 at 7:30 pm. Tickets are only $15 and can be reserved by calling 847-677-7761 or visiting SkokieTheatre.org.

Resurrection College Prep High School

Integrated Technology = Increased Student Engagement

Resurrection Champions Active Learning

At Resurrection, technology is integrated into learning experiences throughout the curriculum. It can be seen in the classroom from mathematics and sciences, to fine arts and religious studies.

Students at Resurrection use Chromebooks to work on and share documents, access cloud-based apps, and create websites and films. In classrooms and labs they create code, make robots, utilize CAD design, learn graphic design, experiment with Google cardboard and 3D printers, explore virtual reality and create their own apps and multimedia projects such as film creation and podcasting.

Language teachers use interactive tools, religious studies teachers use various apps, English teachers use collaborative documents and technology is embedded into the way that students learn.

During the 2015-16 school year, the Resurrection High Voltage Bandits robotics team took 3rd place in their alliance in the Chicago league robotics championship. In their inaugural year, they finished the season in 5th place out of 18 teams.

At Resurrection, the integrated use of technology has led to greater student engagement. Science Department Chair Dawn Konow is proud of the integration of technology to enhance student learning. "At Resurrection, we have been a champion of girls in science and technology before it was a recognized curriculum approach," said Konow. "Through our Physics First program and the offering of AP science courses, we challenge our students. Now that all Resurrection students are participating in the one-to-one technology initiative, the school's use of technology provides a platform for ever-increasing levels of critical thinking, analysis and problem solving on a daily basis."

Resurrection Educational Technologist Joe Lascon shares the school's approach to technology by saying, "As we continue to help our students evolve into 21st century learners, we have worked toward cultivating an environment and curriculum that promotes moving students from consumers of information to creative producers and owners of knowledge." Resurrection is committed to students' active participation in the learning experience by engaging students in collaborative learning in the classroom, clubs, computer labs, and creative spaces.

A newly opened film and video space is a recent extension of the school's makerspace, the Innovation Lab.

Charity & Truth in Action through Service & Leadership at Resurrection

In May 2016 over 20% of Resurrection students participated in the annual ResPunzel Project by donating eight or more inches of hair to be used to make wigs for cancer patients. Pictured above are five of those students who proudly display the hair they donated. As part of their faith-based education, Resurrection students participate in many areas of service, including food drives, service trips, work at soup kitchens and food packing sites, reaching out to the community in volunteer activities, the annual Northwest Side Hunger Walk and special service projects. Service and leadership define the spirit of students at Resurrection and Resurrection staff and faculty believe in empowering young women to make a difference in the world.

"Res students touch the lives of others by supporting dozens of local, national and international charities," said Resurrection Dean of Students Tamara Bernardin. "They embrace the call to make a difference in the lives of the homeless and the hungry, women, teens, children, veterans and other at-risk populations." Resurrection students embody the school's motto of Charity & Truth.

As an all-girls school, Resurrection prepares young women for the future by developing them as confident leaders with a lifetime commitment to service. Students discover their identity as strong, capable women who learn their passion and their potential by exploring over 50 clubs and activities and 28 different athletic teams in 12 sports. Over 25% of students hold leadership positions in a club, an honor society or on an athletic team, and over 60% of students participate in athletics. As a school that has graduated over 14,000 graduates since 1922, Resurrection alumnae are leaders in their workplaces, in their homes and in their communities. Resurrection is proud of its tradition of preparing young women with the confidence to become leaders who are resilient and optimistic and ready to contribute to the world.

Golden Apple Nominees

In 2016 eleven Resurrection College Prep High School faculty members were nominated for the esteemed Golden Apple Award for their outstanding work as teachers and mentors.

The Golden Apple Foundation selects 10 outstanding teachers each year to receive the prestigious Golden Award for Excellence in Teaching. These teachers become lifetime members of the Golden Apple Academy of Educators, which conceives, develops and supports programs for teachers to make them more effective in the classroom. The ten outstanding Illinois educators who are inducted into the Golden Apple Academy of Educators each receive a paid spring quarter sabbatical at Northwestern University, are honored at the Golden Apple Awards Ceremony, and receive a cash award.

At Resurrection, the rigorous college preparatory curriculum is designed to keep pace with student needs and interests to ensure an academic program that prepares young women for success in college, career, and life. "At Resurrection College Prep, we want the very best for our students, which is why we pride ourselves on providing our students with a rigorous college preparatory curriculum that is aligned to ACT standards," said Resurrection Assistant Principal of Curriculum and Instruction Margaret Kinel. More on How to Handle an Inheritance

Chester M. Przybylo

In the last issue of Our Village a number of “Dos and Don’ts” were discussed for individuals who are recent heirs. Let’s recap these and then go into some other special considerations:

Do understand the nature of your gift- is it cash, real property, personal property, benefits from an IRA, or disbursements from a trust?

Don’t go it alone—seek qualified professional help.

Plan ahead and don’t spend any money before making a plan.

Do put away money for a rainy day.

Don’t listen to those who steer you toward risky investments.

Do invest in your future.

Do allow a “splurge”, but don’t go overboard.

Now let’s take a look at an inheritance that is an IRA. If you should inherit an IRA, and you must take only the “required minimum distributions” or the very minimum amount you are required to take out annually under the Internal Revenue Code, the money you inherited can continue to grow tax-deferred for as long as possible. By taking the minimum, you would barely empty the IRA by the time you reached your life expectancy. You also need to check the beneficiary designations on the account. If they remain the same, the benefits from the IRA will continue to go to the contingent beneficiaries in the event of your death. On the other hand, you also have the option to fill out a new beneficiary designation if you prefer to have the remaining IRA benefits go to different beneficiaries when you are gone.

If you’ve followed these suggestions, you should be well on your way to handling the inheritance you’ve received from another individual’s estate plan. But what about your estate plan? How will this inheritance impact your own estate plan? Does the inheritance make a major impact on your net worth?

You really need to consider how your inheritance will affect your own estate plan and then make provisions to include your new found inheritance into your existing estate plan. Because of your inherited wealth, do you need to change any specific bequests in your estate plan? Alternatively, do you need to add gifts to additional beneficiaries and/or change the percentage you leave to existing beneficiaries? Is there a charity that you would like to have share in your new wealth? Let’s say your estate was valued at $200,000 before the inheritance and the inheritance added $400,000 to your estate—what is going to happen to the additional $400,000 if something should happen to you in the near future? At this point it would be very wise to make an appointment with an experienced estate planning attorney.

Chester M. Przybylo has been elected to the Board of Governors of the prestigious American Academy of Estate Planning Attorneys and has been engaged in the practice of law for the last 45 years. To register for an upcoming seminar, call the 24 hour reservation hotline at 1-800-638-7878 or register online at www.PlanOurEstate.com.

“City And Ward: A Working Relationship” Is Timely Talk At Norwood Crossing On September 21

How does the 41st Ward operate within city government? What is the role of the alderman in providing city services and repairs? What is the responsibility of a property owner in the ward? Reminder Regarding Proper Display of Building Addresses

The Police Department would like to remind residents and business owners that the Village Code requires every property owner to prominently display their address on their building. It is also required by the United States Post Office. The prominent display of your address allows public safety personnel to respond quickly and safely in an emergency.

Recently, the community has been targeted by solicitors offering (for a fee) to paint addresses on the curb. This practice is prohibited for a variety of reasons. Painted curbs are quickly worn, become unsightly and require annual maintenance. In addition, unless every home and business has the address painted on the curb, it is likely to cause confusion.

Residents and business owners are asked to report any solicitor offering to paint an address on the curb to the Lincolnwood Police Department by calling (847) 673-2167 or 9-1-1.

Any person with a question or comment may call the Office of the Chief of Police at (847) 673-2167

GERMAN POTATO SALAD WITH BACON

The following recipe is from Alexander in Germany, who in turn has it from his mother. It came to Lincoln Square in Chicago via Rocky at Leland Liquors. He and Alexander are good friends. Alexander writes, "We have more than one authentic German Potato Salad (Kartoffelsalat) recipe. It is a traditional food, but some say that the traditional German Potato Salad should be made with mayonnaise, and others say with vinaigrette. People in Northern Germany prefer the mayonnaise variation, while the ones in the South like to use vinaigrette."

Ingredients

- 10 medium sized potatoes, cooked; 1 or 2 onions, diced;
- 6 pickled gherkins, sliced
- 2 tbsp. white wine vinegar
- 2 tbsp. mustard
- 1 tbsp. liquid from the pickled gherkins

- 1 tbsp. cold water;
- 2-3 tbsp. sunflower oil
- several slices of bacon, and salt and coarsely ground pepper to taste.

Don't use too much salt as you can always add more.

Peel the cooked potatoes and slice them into a bowl. Fry the bacon, place on paper towel to drain excess fat, then cut up into small pieces. Pour bacon grease out of frying pan, add the oil and sauté the onions. Add the broth and vinegar, bring to a boil and pour over the potatoes.

Add the mustard, salt and pepper, and mix thoroughly.

Lastly mix in the bacon bits. Let the salad rest for at least 20 minutes and put into a nice serving bowl. You can modify this recipe to suit your taste. Ingredients that harmonize with this recipe are hard boiled eggs and diced ham.

Fall Beautiful Fall - Time To Prepare For Winter

By: Nick Urhausen, Urhausen Greenhouses

The chill of the first cool nights of fall serves as a warning that the growing season is coming to an end. By all means, enjoy your flowers for as long as the weather permits. We can even stubbornly try to protect and cover animals from the onset of cooler temperatures. However, hard frosts will eventually take their toll. At this time I strongly urge gardeners to clean up all dead flowers and vegetable plants. This is the first step towards having a great garden next year.

Then I would suggest adding a two to three inch layer of an organic material to the soil. If you have a compost pile, this would be a good time to work in this material.

Another option is to work the leaves from your yard into the soil. Adding these materials will have several benefits. First, the organic matter will have a chance to further decompose during the long, wet fall and winter. As the organic material naturally breaks down, this will add nutrients to the soil for next years plants.

Second, really digging and working up the soil in the fall aerates and loosens it and prevents the ground from becoming too hard. This is very important because a loose soil allows plants to develop healthy roots systems.

None of this work is very glamorous, however conditioning and preparing soil is one of the most important keys to having success as a gardener. Next spring your flower and vegetable plants will benefit from growing in a nutrient rich, loose soil.
